

We present a fully automatic approach to video colorization with self-regularization and diversity. Our model contains a colorization network for video frame colorization.