

To understand the world, we humans constantly need to relate the present to the past, and put events in context. In this paper, we enable existing video models