

In this paper, we introduce the task of generating a sharp slow-motion video given a low frame rate blurry video. We propose a data-driven approach, where the