

Intelligent agent naturally learns from motion. Various self-supervised algorithms have leveraged the motion cues to learn effective visual representations. The h