

Humans can easily recognize the importance of people in social event images, and they always focus on the most important individuals. However, learning to le