

Recently, graph convolutional neural networks have been widely studied for graph-structured data representation and learning. In this paper, we present Graph