

Unconditional image generation has recently been dominated by generative adversarial networks (GANs). GAN methods train a generator which regresses image