

We present a new predictor combination algorithm that improves a given task predictor based on potentially relevant reference predictors. Existing approaches