

Deep learning techniques have become the to-go models for most vision-related tasks on 2D images. However, their power has not been fully realised on sever