

We consider the problem of referring image segmentation. Given an input image and a natural language expression, the goal is to segment the object referred b