

Ideally, 360deg imagery could inherit the deep convolutional neural networks (CNNs) already trained with great success on perspective projection images. How