

This paper proposes a method for head pose estimation from a single image. Previous methods often predict head poses through landmark or depth estimation