

Deep embedding learning aims to learn a distance metric for effective similarity measurement, which has achieved promising performance in various tasks. As t