

Image repurposing is a commonly used method for spreading misinformation on social media and online forums, which involves publishing untampered images