

Given a training dataset composed of images and corresponding category labels, deep convolutional neural networks show a strong ability in mining discriminat