

We present a new weakly supervised learning-based method for generating novel category-specific 3D shapes from unoccluded image collections. Our method