

Recognizing every person's action in a crowded and cluttered environment is a challenging task in computer vision. We propose to tackle this challenging problem