

In this paper, we study the task of image retrieval, where the input query is specified in the form of an image plus some text that describes desired modifications