

Learning effective distance metric between data has gained increasing popularity, for its promising performance on various tasks, such as face verification, zero