

Significant progress has been made with image stylization using deep learning, especially with generative adversarial networks (GANs). However, existing meth