Tracking by siamese networks has achieved favorable performance in recent years. However, most of existing siamese methods do not take full advantage of s