Deep learning approaches to optical flow estimation have seen rapid progress over the recent years. One common trait of many networks is that they refine an i