In this paper, we propose a new supervision objective named uniform loss to learn deep equidistributed representations for face recognition. Most existing meth