A future video is the 2D projection of a 3D scene with predicted camera and object motion. Accurate future video prediction inherently requires understanding of