We consider an interesting problem---salient instance segmentation. Other than producing approximate bounding boxes, our network also outputs high-quality i