Previous scene text detection methods have progressed substantially over the past years. However, limited by the receptive field of CNNs and the simple repres