Temporal action proposal generation is an important task, aiming to localize the video segments containing human actions in an untrimmed video. In this paper,