This paper addresses the problem of 3D human pose and shape estimation from a single image. Previous approaches consider a parametric model of the huma