Regular model compression methods focus on RGB input. While cross domain tasks demand more DNN models, each domain often needs its own model. Cons