Generative adversarial networks have achieved great success in unpaired image-to-image translation. Cycle consistency allows modeling the relationship betwe