In this paper, we propose an alignment network with iterative optimization for weakly supervised continuous sign language recognition. Our framework consists