To fight against real-life image forgery, which commonly involves different types and combined manipulations, we propose a unified deep neural architecture ca