In this paper, we study the problem of unifying knowledge from a set of classifiers with different architectures and target classes into a single classifier, given onl