This paper introduces a novel deep learning framework for image animation. Given an input image with a target object and a driving video sequence depicting a