We present a new deep learning approach to pose-guided resynthesis of human photographs. At the heart of the new approach is the estimation of the complet