Numerous cloud-based services are provided to help customers develop and deploy deep learning applications. When a customer deploys a deep learning mod