The goal of data selection is to capture the most structural information from a set of data. This paper presents a fast and accurate data selection method, in whic