In the conventional person re-id setting, it is assumed that the labeled images are the person images within the bounding box for each individual; this labeling ac